Committees Report at Monday Night Meeting

At the Quad Council meeting held in Mr. Wilson's office in the dining hall Monday night, the three committees appointed, last week, by Mayor Jack Padilla, reported their findings to him.

It was decided that, because many Quad boarders who play football would be absent on the Cape Girardeau trip Wednesday, no guests would be invited to dinner at that time. However, the practice of inviting guests and after dinner speakers to Wednesday night dinners will be continued next Wednesday and on each succeeding Wednesday.

Madrigalists Are New Musical Organization

A new musical organization on the campus, The Madrigalists, has been formed to study and sing madrigal music composed chiefly in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Those composing the group are Mrs. Hazel E. Carter and Marjory Driftner, sopranos; Charlene Barnes and Dorothy Steeby, contraltos; Christopher Evans and Gene Yenni, tenors; and Dr. Reven DeJarnette, baritone.

The music to be sung is traditionally that of the drawing room. Since there were no such things as public concerts in that period, the pleasures of music were derived from home participation. In those days dinner guests retired to the drawing room to participate in an evening of singing rather than an evening of playing bridge.

The Madrigalists will make an appearance soon at a session of the Humanities devoted to contrapuntal music.

Founder of Award Checks Those Who Have Received It

Howard Leech Has Given Medal to Twelve Men in As Many Years.

Mr. Howard Leech, who established the Howard Leech award for scholastic and athletic distinction in 1930, has been in Maryville several times this fall since he began work with the National Youth Administration. On his visit last week he asked for a list of the men who had received his award, which is given each year at the commencement exercises. The list has been compiled and is appended to this article.

Herman "H" Fischer, who was the first to receive the award, is now employed by the Kansas City State Lines.

Carl King, who received the award in 1931, is teaching at Silver City, New Mexico.

Wilbur Stalcup, who was the winner in 1932, is now director of personnel for men at the College and is in the athletic department.

Raymond Mitzel, who received the 1933 award, is doing social work at Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Robert Mutt, 1934, is principal at Harrisonville, Missouri.

Joe Benson, who received the award in 1935, is principal of Smith-Cotton High School in Sedalia.

Vernon Green, who was honored with the award in 1936, is now coaching at Sikeston, Missouri.

Walter Rulon, the recipient of the 1937 award is teaching in the school system of St. Louis.

Donald Sipson, honored in 1938, is coach at Trenton.

Robert Rogers, winner in 1939, now coaches at Sedalia.

Dean Walker, who received the award in 1940, also coaches. He is at Hamburg, Iowa.

Robert Gregory, the last to receive the award, is now in college, working toward his degree.

J. Cameron's Daughter Visits Here This Week

Dr. Cornelia Cameron, daughter of Mr. John Cameron, a former member of the faculty of the College in the department of Agriculture, was a visitor Wednesday and Thursday, at the College.

Dr. Cameron, who was but a tiny girl when her father taught here, recalls her attending kindergarten, becoming tired and going up to her father's classroom and hiding behind cases in the room. She commented upon the growth of the College, saying, "All I remember is a big building up on a hill."

Mr. Cameron, the father of Dr. Cameron, died in 1920. He was at the time a teacher in the University of Iowa. Mrs. Cameron still lives in Iowa City and is active in university work.

Dr. Cameron is now in charge of Museum and Visual Education work for the W. P. A. in District Number 2, which comprises the northwest quarter of Missouri. She has a unit here under the direction of Miss Olive DeLuce. Dr. Cameron came to this work from the Buffalo Museum of Science, to which the W. P. A. officials went to bring her here. She has her Ph. D. degree from the University of Iowa, from which university she also took her undergraduate degree.

John Rush, Barnard, Sells His Newspaper

John E. Rush, publisher of the Barnard Bulletin for twenty-five years, has sold out to M. W. Stauffer, publisher of the Maryville Daily Forum. Mr. Rush has a life diploma from the College. He is the father of Max Rush, who was last year's editor of the Northwest Missourian.

Mr. Rush says the extreme difficulty of getting competent employees and his other interests forced him to cease publication. He is president of the Northwest Missouri Press Association.

Ethelynde Smith, Soprano, Will Be Heard Wednesday

Repertoire Is Wide From Which Soloist Chooses Her Program.

Miss Ethelynde Smith, a well-known lyric soprano, will give a recital at Assembly next Wednesday morning. The public is invited. Her program will consist of old songs, Lieder and French songs, songs by American composers, an American aria and the "Songs of Youth."

Miss Smith has a fine concert record. She has made one concert tour of Europe, three recital tours in numerous Canadian provinces, and eighteen consecutive coast-to-coast round trips for concerts in forty-seven states. She has appeared as soloist with symphony orchestras, in oratorios and at music festivals. She has also given many recitals for educational institutions, music clubs, and other organizations. She has filled from two to six return engagements at many places.

Miss Smith's beautiful soprano voice with its wide range and clear, liquid tones, her charming personality, and her interpretations which hold her audiences spellbound have received many comments from admiring listeners.

After the soprano's recital at the University of Missouri, the Columbia Missourian gave the following comment: "She announced at the beginning of the program that she would comment upon some of her numbers. These program notes were interesting, often humorous, and always valuable, especially the translations of the foreign songs. Miss Smith's voice showed fine quality and wide range of expression. Her renditions of the 'Songs of Youth' with childlike ingenuousness left her enthusiastic audience in fine humor."

The director of music of the Provincial Normal School, Truro, Nova Scotia, Canada, writes: "Of the sopranos who have appeared here during the last ten or twelve years, and there have been some exceedingly fine ones, Miss Smith is easily the peer. She has all the qualities desired to please audiences everywhere. Her voice is clear and sparkling, a true soprano of excellent quality, and she possesses a technique which is finished to the highest degree. The program covered an unusually wide range of songs, in each of which she was equally at home, as she excels in the art of interpretation."

Mother of Mrs. Foster Dies at Dallas, Texas

Mrs. James W. Terrill, mother of Mrs. Henry A. Foster, died Friday evening, October 24, at her home in Dallas, Texas. She collapsed and passed into a coma from which she never aroused. She was eighty-six years of age.

Mrs. Foster left for Texas last Saturday to attend the funeral which was held last Monday. Dr. Foster drove her to Kansas City to take a train for Oklahoma City, from which place she drove to Dallas with relatives.

Glenn Marion, who took his B. S. degree with the class of 1938, received his Master's degree in Industrial Arts this past summer at Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oregon. He is now teaching industrial arts at Central High School, St. Joseph. He has taught for the last three years at Benton High School in the same city.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion are living at 2020 Scott Street, St. Joseph. Mrs. Marion was the former Miss Helen Bassett, who took her degree from the College with the class of 1939.

O'Neillians Give "Box and Cox" as Assembly Program

Mr. Robert Main Directs One-act Comedy; Class Makes Set for Play.

A one-act play entitled Box and Cox was presented by the O'Neillian Dramatic club last Wednesday at the regular College assembly. The cast of characters included: Mr. Cox played by Glen Wenger, Mr. Box played by Kenneth Israel, and Mr. Bouncer played by Ellis Brock. The able production staff included: Stage Manager, Ann Nichols; properties, Frances Phares; costumes, Eddie Barber; make-up, Marie Arnett; publicity, Maxine Hoerman; assistant director, Charlene Barnes; director, Mr. Robert L. Main.

A completely new and different set was constructed for this play by the class in Play Production. Featured in this play was the attic-like set which was designed to give a feeling of limited space.

The play takes place in the attic apartment of a London boarding house which has been rented to two different gentlemen. Neither is aware of the other's presence in the apartment, for the landlady, Mrs. Bouncer, is clever in having rented it to men who sleep and eat at different periods of the day. Such a situation cannot go on for long; they meet, quarrel, discuss their "intended" in marriage, and remain friends.

The humor was English and required attention to bring out its true value. The clever and free use of repetition added much to the comic situation.

Grant City Student Drives in Each Day

Some students of the college may be reluctant to attend classes every day, but not Mrs. Ruth Beavers. She is so eager to receive her college education that she drives from Grant City every morning.

Mrs. Beavers is the wife of the Circuit Judge, Ellis G. Beavers. She is the mother of two sons, one of whom attended the College last year. He is now with the 128th Field Artillery, on maneuvers in South Carolina. The other son is studying pre-law in Central College, Fayette.

Because Mrs. Beavers did not have an opportunity for a college education earlier, she is taking advantage of such an afforded opportunity now. She is enrolled for regular college work. She says her hardest subject is English 11a. She worries just as all students do over the pink slips "that will undoubtedly be given to all unsuspecting students," as she says. The only unusual thing to her, she says, is the fact that she is in college with students who are the ages of her sons.

Educational Films Are Being Booked and Sent

Mr. Leslie Somerville, booking agent and distributor of the educational films recently purchased by the College, reports that Trenton has sent in a complete booking for the year. Sixty films will be sent during the year.

Trenton has already had four films. They are all in the field of music: "String Choir," "Percussion Group," "Brass Choir," and "Woodwind Choir." Cameron has had two: "The Nervous System" and "Safety in the Home."

By the end of this week Mr. Somerville expects to have complete bookings for Maryville and Cameron.

Dr. Lowery is to speak on November 7 to the women of the Methodist and Christian churches at a luncheon to be held at the Methodist church. Her topic will be "Practical Applications of Democracy in Maryville."

Elmer Hawk visited in Orrick, Missouri, over the week-end.

Students Find Youth Program Is Interesting

Interest among the 41 young men enrolled in the two-week-old Out of School Youth's vocational training courses sponsored by the Industrial Arts Department of the College is, at present, high and growing higher. However, there is still room for additional students in the classes, according to Mr. Donald N. Valk, head of the department.

The groups, of which there are two in auto mechanic and one in general machine shop, meet four times weekly. On Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday evenings the groups meet from 7:00 to 11:00 o'clock, and on Friday they meet from 7:00 to 10:00 o'clock.

Then men in the metal working shop have been concentrating on sheet metal working. Soon, however, their work will deal with forging and machine shop practice.

In the auto shop the men have repaired several of their own automobiles. At present they are rotating through the different automotive jobs.

In the near future the men will be shown an hour-long talking movie dealing with Automotive cylinders and piston rings. Although no date has been set for this showing, it will probably be on next Monday. Later a half-hour discussion period with various factory representatives will be held.

The instructors for the courses are chosen from the regular industrial arts faculty and from local mechanics. All are under the immediate supervision of Mr. Valk.

Parents Are to Be Invited to College

Open House Will Be Held November 10-14, During Education Week.

Maryville, Mo. Oct. 28.—Co-operating with committees on American Education Week, the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville has invited parents, brothers, and sisters of students to visit the College during the week of November 10-14.

Rollie Walter Brown, of Cambridge, Mass., famous author and lecturer, will address the student body and their guests on Wednesday of that week. Outside of this, no special entertainment is being planned, for the visitors as it is the purpose of the College to present the students in their classrooms or in their participation in various activities.

Mr. Brown was formerly a teacher at Wabash College, Carleton, and Harvard, but fifteen years ago he turned exclusively to writing. Since then he has published many books, among which are "The Firemakers," "The Creative Spirit," "Toward Romance," "Lonely Americans," and "Dean Briggs."

As soon as his books began to circulate he was called to all parts of the country to lecture. In the limited time each year that he has had for engagements, he has spoken at more than 250 universities and colleges, before open forums and clubs of men and of women in most of the chief American cities, and before many state educational groups and civic societies.

Nationally Education Week is being observed from November 9 to 15. Invitations to the College, however, specify the days Monday to Friday—November 10-14—for visiting.

Study Groups Meet

Dr. Ruth Lowery's study group in A. A. U. W. on "What Is A. A. U. W.?" met with her Tuesday evening. Miss Matie Dykes' group on Creative Writing met at her apartment the same evening. On Wednesday evening Miss Estella Bowman reviewed a recent book for her group in Current Fiction.

Elmer Hawk visited in Orrick, Missouri, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin participated in two homecoming celebrations; first at Mrs. Baldwin's alma mater, Iowa State Teachers, later at the University of South Dakota, where Mr. Baldwin matriculated.

The Baldwins visited, too, at Southern State Normal, Springfield, S. D., where Mr. Baldwin was registrar prior to filling that same position here.

Graduate Sends Fine Snakeskin From Southland

Everett Richards Mails Skin of Diamond-back Rattler to College.

"I am mailing you a rattlesnake skin," said J. Everett Richards, a former all-state football man and a graduate of the College in the class of 1938, in a letter received this week by Mr. W. T. Garrett, head of the biology department.

The snake skin has arrived and is an exceedingly fine specimen of diamond-back rattler, or timber rattler, as it is sometimes called. The skin has been carefully prepared so that the complete markings appear in symmetrical arrangement. The skin was clipped down the middle of the belly and then removed carefully. The flesh was removed and the skin dried.

As the skin appears now, it is flat, with the diamond pattern running down the middle, and the smooth side scales on either side. The back scales are keeled so that the diamond pattern stands up sharply. At its widest part, it measures 8 inches across.

Mr. Garrett says that the snake probably was not 8 inches in circumference, as that figure would seem to indicate, for the skin has been pressed and doubtless stretched somewhat. The snake was no small one, however. Mr. Richards says that it measured 7 feet and one-half inch from nose to button.

The snake was killed by a Negro turpentine worker after the snake had bitten him twice. Though the Negro was very ill and lost 25 pounds during his sickness, he is still alive.

Mr. Richards was told that the snake had 16 fully developed rattles, and a button, but says he cannot vouch for that fact as someone else had taken the rattles before he got the snake. He says that the snake was probably 14 to 16 years of age, to judge from the rattles.

Evidently, Mr. Richards has a genuine interest in snakes. He tells of having had last summer a "beautiful specimen of a 'coach whip' blue racer or plain black snake." This snake, he says, was 8 feet long and no bigger in girth than a quarter.

Knowing Mr. Garrett's penchant for snakes, Mr. Richards suggests that he may be able to send a live specimen of rattler. Mr. Garrett has a rattler of this type, which he captured himself. He says that this type of rattler is the widest ranging rattler to be found. The snake is not vicious, but will fight if cornered. The one Mr. Garrett captured did not try to fight and was quite tractable.

Miss Dykes Visits Her Cousin Near California

Miss Matie M. Dykes, accompanied by members of her family, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Dykes and Miss Mary Dykes of King City, spent the week-end near California, Missouri, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Douglas and Mrs. G. B. Pence.

Mrs. Douglas, the former Miss Bertha Pence, who took a six-hour certificate from the College, is a cousin of Miss Dykes. Before her marriage she took a degree from the University of Missouri and did graduate work at Wisconsin. She taught for several years in the high school at King City and later did rehabilitation work in the state. Her field is home economics.

Philharmonic Considered One of Best in United States.

Conductor From Kansas

Karl Krueger Has Conducted Under World Famous Musicians in Europe.

Internationally famous Karl Krueger will direct his superb Kansas City Philharmonic at the College November 18 in a program that promises interesting variation and contrast.

Ranked among the comparatively few great symphonic leaders, Mr. Krueger has raised the Kansas City Philharmonic into major importance since his arrival in 1933.

Though the year was 1933—in the midst of the depression—so effectively did Mr. Krueger stir the enthusiasm of leaders working with him that an organization was formed and the first concert was given that autumn with a new symphony orchestra and a dynamic young conductor. It is the amazing development of the Philharmonic through the past several seasons that proves the remarkable leadership of the conductor.

Mr. Krueger has won laurels abroad as well as at home. The series of phenomenal conductorial successes in Vienna, Budapest, and Prague, and his brilliant tour of Italy with the Budapest orchestra were widely acclaimed at the time.

Born in Atchison, Kansas, a descendant of many generations of professors and noted musicians, Krueger was chosen as organist in one of the leading churches in his natal town at the age of 13.

After a brief period, a fellowship from the University of Kansas was bestowed, where young Krueger was an outstanding student in composition classes of the late Charles Sanford Skilton. While he was still in his teens, Boston and New York were centers that beckoned the young genius. In the latter city, he won through contest with 500 applicants, the position as leading organist in one of the metropolitan's prominent places of worship.

The cello was his favored instrument, and it was as virtuoso of cello that he toured Europe and South America. Conducting was his ultimate goal, though he spent years studying law at the University of Heidelberg and Vienna because his parents wished it. After receiving his degrees in that profession he returned to conducting. A protégé of the great Arthur Nikisch Europe's foremost conductor of the time, Krueger toured with him as student and assistant. Krueger was the only pupil for whom Nikisch predicted ultimate success.

Desirous of retaining his American citizenship and feeling that his greatest opportunities were in his native land, Karl Krueger returned to America and the Pacific coast where he accepted the conductorship of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra. After six years, during which time the orchestra under his guidance developed into a noteworthy symphonic organization, not being able to rid himself of the belief that his opportunity lay in the vicinity of his childhood, the middle week, he resigned the Seattle post and came to Chicago to consult his old friend, Dr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Dr. Stock knew that Kansas City was eager for a major symphony orchestra and advised Krueger to go there and meet with civic leaders. This he did, and the result has been fruitful for Kansas City and vicinity.

Students and faculty members will be admitted to the entertainment on their activity tickets. Reserved seats will cost 25c extra. Regular admission is $1.00. Reservations for the concert may be made after November 11 at Kuchs Brothers.

"Bundles for Britain" Knitters May Get Yarn

College women who are interested in "knitting for Britain" may obtain yarn and directions from Miss Lippitt's office on the second floor of the Administration Building, or from Room 226 at Residence Hall. The yarn is furnished by the Bundles for Britain organization, but those who knit will have to furnish their own needles.

The College has received 20 pounds of blue yarn to be knit into sleeveless V-neck sweaters, V-neck sleeve sweaters, sleeveless square neck or turtle neck sweaters, air force helmets, skull caps, double scarf, mittens, gloves, and wristlets, or thumbless mittens.

Last year 45 garments were knitted by girls of this college. Some of these garments were sweaters, scarves, and mittens.

Fifteen pounds of tinfoil were collected at Residence Hall. This also goes for war work.

From the Dean
Students of human behavior point out that human beings are very much alike in their emotional responses. If you will consider those things that give you the desirable emotional feelings, you will find that you work better if you get a little praise and less ridicule, you study better when you have a sense of the worthwhileness of the task rather than a sense of obligation to a taskmaster. You can easily put down a list of things that others do and say to you that either upsets you or puts new vitality into your efforts. Just for the fun of it, try making two such lists—one of the things people do or say that make you put forth your best in order to receive their approval, the other of these things which build up the opposite reactions. With these two lists in front of you decide which of the traits you have listed you would like to be known by. To a very great extent the way people react to you depends upon how you treat them.

American Royal Is Subject of Theme
Donald Cummins Relates His Experiences and His Impressions.

Several students attended the American Royal in Kansas City last week. Mr. R. T. Wright of the agriculture department asked them to hand him written reports of the trip. The one which follows was written by Donald Cummins.
My Trip To The American Royal
We left the college in the college bus shortly after seven A. M. and arrived in Kansas City about ten o'clock. We drove to the Royal building immediately. We entered the building after Mr. Wright had fought his way through the mob at the ticket window and purchased our tickets.
We went to the main arena as we entered the building. Fat cattle classes were being judged on one side of the arena and mule classes were on the other side. We were particularly interested in several of the mule classes since one of our classmates and his father were showing their mules in this class. This boy won several prizes with his mules.
Our group split up into twos and threes while we were watching the judging, and for the remainder of the day we did not see much of each other. I watched the judging for a short while, then I left the arena to look at the numerous exhibits.
The beef cattle exhibit was the first I came to after I left the main arena. I walked up one aisle and down the other while looking at the cattle on each side of the aisle until I had seen the entire exhibit. This exhibit covered an area about the size of a city block.
At the north end of the cattle division, there was a ramp leading down to the hog, sheep, poultry, horse, and industrial exhibits. I walked through the horse, hog, and sheep divisions. I thought that I would go to the north end of the building and work back to the arena as I looked at all the exhibits. I kept walking north until finally I thought that I never was going to reach the north end of the building.
At the north end of the building was the poultry exhibits and the livestock that belonged to the 4-H and F. F. A. boys and girls. The next section contained the sheep and swine exhibits. Some of the hog and sheep classes were being judged while I was looking through this section. It was very interesting and educational to watch this hog and sheep judging.
The third section contained the industrial exhibits and the horse and mule divisions. A number of the various firms had examples of their products on display in the industrial exhibits. There were also a number of novelty booths here. It was hard to see much of the fine harness and saddle horses as they were in covered box stalls, but it was easy to see all the draft horses and mules as they were in open stalls. There were also an eight-horse hitch of midget ponies and a six-horse hitch of midget mules.
The afternoon was taken up by the band contest and the horse show. There were many excellent bands in the band contest. Each band marched across the arena and went through some maneuver. After each band had marched across the arena all the bands came into the arena at once and all of them together played two numbers. The arena was so packed with people that one band hardly had enough room to get inside.
After the bands had left the arena, the horse show started and it lasted until five thirty o'clock. After the horse show was over, I looked at a

Hobbies
Evelyn Potter, a junior from Bartlett, Iowa, collects miniature dogs of soap, china, bone, glass, iron. A few were chosen for their close resemblance to famous people. One tiny dog looks exactly like Ned Sparks.
A Miss Potter became interested in her hobby as a sophomore in high school when she received as a gift a tiny, silver dog which was supposed to be used as a paper weight. Since that time she has increased the number to 30, the smallest of which is one half inch long; the largest, about 5 inches long.
The last dog added to the collection was a little black dog with a long body and long ears which came from Council Bluffs, Iowa.
W. D. Evans Joins Marines
W. D. Evans, N. Y. A. Resident Project Trainee left Tuesday morning for San Diego, California where he will be inducted into the United States Marine Corps. Mr. Evans made application for the corps last Saturday and was accepted immediately.

The Stroller

Are you all satisfied with Maryville's victory over Rockhurst last Friday night? With Springfield's defeat by Tallegha, Maryville's prospects for the M. I. A. A. title brighten. Even though the Springfield game was not a conference tilt, the odds are strong that the Bears' winning streak may be broken and more defeats may follow. Here's hoping Cape will get a taste of Bearcat treatment tonight, for we'd like to have that title.

The Stroller this week seems to have got his wires crossed' and started out to write a sports column. That just goes to show that in football season there's nothing more important in the minds of the students than football.

John Rudolph, one of the C. C. C.'s (Crew Cut Cuties), reportedly is leaving school at the end of the quarter. The next time any one sees 'Rude,' he probably be wearing that well-known smile of the traveling salesman.

The Stroller promised a few song requests in this issue, and he always keeps his promises. Here are a few. "St. Louis Blues" was requested by Betty Drennan; "I've Got No Use For The 'Wimmin'," by Ralph Strange; "Shoe Shine Boy," by Raymond Hutchison and Lee Vannoy; "Let's Trade a Diamond for a Heart," by Millard Fourt and Valeria King; "Sweet Sue," by Neiland Thompson; "My Silent Love," by John Lanham; "Ragtime Cowboy Joe," by Eileen Isom; "The Little Man Who Wasn't (All) There," by Elmer Barton; and "Happy Birthday" by those having birthdays this week, including the Stroller.

With the sudden cold spell this week students have donned their winter coats, but the Stroller was rather surprised to find a certain tall member of the Senior class wearing his red flannels to the O'Neillian party Monday night. If the Stroller had had his candid camera along, the editor of the Northwest Missourian would have paid dearly for a certain snapshot, but alas no camera, no picture, no hush money, no nothing!

Betty Steele believes in that old theory that "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach." (If he doesn't get tomato poisoning.) Anyway, when little Nelson celebrated his birthday on Monday, he was presented with a huge birthday cake by his better half. Thus far no serious complications have maidens on the campus should try that method.

Denhis Davidson caused quite a commotion in the Quad Dining hall last Friday evening when he reported for work, resplendent in his white monkey jacket to find that dinner had already been served and eaten. The chagrined Denhis blames his late arrival on the fact that he was catching up on some lost sleep.

The Stroller overheard some plotting concerning certain Halloween pranks which are being planned by several of the boys living at the Quad. You dorm girls had better get a few tricks up your sleeves to pull on them in return.

The Stroller's little item about Ed Intfin's secret love did a little good although not in the right direction. Ed had a date over the weekend with a certain Maryville high school girl, but he still hasn't got up the nerve to date his dream girl. Poor Ed.

The Stroller is looking forward to a big weekend and probably a case of fallen arches for he hardly knows how he can get around to snoop on all the Halloween parties, the Varsity Villagers party for the Quad boys, the Dorm dance, and the Cape football game. In closing however, the Stroller wishes to leave this little thought with all of you who fail to make this column and who have a secret ambition to see your name in print in the Stroller.

We are sorry, kind friends, that we can't roast you all, But our victims are many, And our oven is small!

The footballing Harold Stillwell who received such a bump on the "noggins" that a short stay in the local hospital was necessitated is back in the Quad fold. He seems not too much the worse for wear.
Elmer Hawk, the N. Y. A. trainee whose cold and sore throat caused him to seek the sanctuary of his dormitory bed recently, is also back on his feet. Like Stillwell, he seems to be hitting on all six.
Among the agricultural students who made the trip to the American Royal at Kansas City last week were six Quad residents, Jack Hain, Millard Fourt, Junior King, Stanton Frakes, Henry Moyer, and Mr. F. S. Simerly. All were of the opinion that the trip was well worth their while, though some felt that an additional day could have been spent there as there was just too much to see.
Victor Farrell, the Bearcat tackle with the injured ankles, made the Rockhurst trip in spite of said injuries. However he did not play as he was not badly enough needed to risk re-injury.
Attending to the fact that the Rockhurst game was a hard fought contest, are the black eyes and facial abrasions evidenced by almost all Quad residents who participated in the game.

"We must not sacrifice the great heritage of knowledge and culture that has been handed down to us. The training of the mind and the heart in the present world is even more important than any particular area of technical training. For unless our faith in ourselves, in our democratic polity, in our ideals, in the principles of tolerance and freedom, unless all those things can be maintained, the battle is lost before it begins." Pres. Winfred G. Leutner of Western Reserve.

"Americanism is an unfulfilling love of country; loyalty to its institutions and ideals; eagerness to defend it against all enemies; undivided allegiance to the flag; and a desire to secure the blessing of liberty to ourselves and posterity."
It is not how great a thing we do, but how well we do the things we have to do, that puts us in the noble brotherhood of artists.—Haliburton.

Bearcats Win, 21-6, Against City Eleven

Winters, Padilla, Bennett Make Long Runs to Set Pace for Maryville.

Gregory Makes Points

Kansas City Team Displays Fine Passing Attack to Make Single Score.

Last Friday the Bearcats were again victorious defeating the Kansas City Rockhurst team 21-6 in another non-conference football game at Kansas City. The Bearcats featured several long runs and many outstanding plays avenging the Rockhurst triumph earlier in the season over the Warrensburg Mules. The Maryville team pushed over two touchdowns in the second quarter and then another in the fourth quarter. Rockhurst made its only touchdown in the last of the fourth period.

Maryville made two threats for scoring in the first fifteen minutes of play, but the Rockhurst defense was too strong and alert. Early in the second quarter the Bearcats held the ball on the 45-yard stripe when Captain Schottel, of the Bearcats, hurried a quick pass to Bennett, who was standing on the scrimmage line. Using the entire line for interference, Bennett reached the 30-yard line behind the safety of his excellent interference, from there he out-raced the Rockhurst backs to the goal. After Gregory's successful conversion the Bearcats were in the lead to stay.

Ten minutes later, after an exchange of 15-yard penalties, Maryville held the ball on the Rockhurst 41-yard line. Jack Padilla, Maryville's stocky halfback, directed five running plays which resulted in another Bearcat touchdown. One of these plays was a 26-yard sneak around right end by Padilla himself. After the touchdown Gregory converted again for the additional point.

Then in the final period the big moment came for the Bearcat freshman backfielder Bill Winters, who started from the Maryville 44 yard line, made a sweeping run around his left end and kept going until he had crossed the scoring line completing a 56-yard sprint. Gregory added to the excitement by completing another conversion making the score of the game 21-0 for Maryville.

The Hawk touchdown resulted from three excellent passes by Steck and some nice line plunging by Mitchell. After driving their touchdown over Costello's kick fell short of the goal and the scoring was over for the game, Maryville winning 21-6.

Cage Squad Has Five Returning Lettermen

"We'll have the least number of lettermen returning to the basketball team that we have had in years," said basketball coach, Wilbur Stalcup in an interview recently. Only five who earned letters in the sport last year are returning this year. They are Frank "Speck" Myers, Paul "Georgia" Wilson, Ivan Schottel, Bob Gregory, and Eddie Johnson.

Coach Stalcup declined to comment on the prospects of the cage squad this year. "We will be able to tell a lot more about it when we begin scrimmaging in two or three weeks," he said.

At present 15 of the hopefuls have been working out at the gymnasium three nights each week. Most of these men are freshman. Only Eddie Johnson of the lettermen has been working out with this group, as the others are football players.

Mr. Stalcup was unable to say how many football players would report for basketball at the end of the grid season. However, he stated that he expected a goodly number of men to report at that time.

MIAA Grid Teams Win Non-League Contests

That MIAA teams play a very good brand of football is borne out by the fact that the three MIAA teams who tangled with non-conference opponents in last Friday night's encounters all came out on the long end of the score.

The Warrensburg Mules, with the versatile Porter Robb leading the way, drubbed the Central College eleven 28 to 0 at Fayette. Kirkville Teachers eked out a 14 to 13 victory over Iowa Wesleyan at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. And of course, our own Bearcats did rather well in the Rockhurst tilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Marr, both graduates of the College were Maryville visitors on Sunday. Mr. Marr is coaching at Bethany. Mrs. Marr, who was formerly Miss Susan Fleming, is teaching there also.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Stalcup and Mr. and Mrs. Ryland Milner attended the football game between the Missouri Tigers and the Nebraska Corn Huskers at Columbia on Saturday afternoon.

Several Quad residing Bearcat grid men remained in Kansas City over the week-end. There they had much fun admiring the wonders of the big town.

Bearcats Oppose Indians in Cape Battle Tonight

Cape Girardeau Showed Defensive Power in Last Week's Game.

Cape Girardeau will present a difficult problem for the Maryville Bearcats when they meet on the Cape Girardeau field Friday, October 31, according to local mentors.

Cape showed remarkable offensive strength in their game last week with Evansville, Ind., when they won 48-19.

However, the Bearcats have won four games this season, last week defeating Rockhurst of Kansas City, 21-6 at Rockhurst. Maryville is now tied with Kirkville for second place in the M. I. A. A. standing after the Bearcats' victory over Rolla, October 17.

The Cape Girardeau-Maryville game holds special interest, since both Bearcat coaches Ryland Milner and Wilbur Stalcup, taught some years ago at Jackson, which is near Cape. This is one reason why Cape Girardeau employs her best strategy attempting to outplay Maryville.

"Spec" Myers, said to be the best defense wingman on the team, will still be on the sidelines Friday night, but Bruce Peters and Art Schmagel, two able Bearcats who have been laid up with injuries, will be back on the field.

The lineup will be much the same as it was in the Rockhurst game last week, according to Coach Milner: Totoraitis and Hellerich, ends; Ellis on and Thompson, tackles; Rizzo and Gregory, guards; Flammang, center; Schottel, Bennett, Padilla and Winters, backs.

In Monson, Mass., 19-year-old Robert S. Fay thoroughly disliked the job of tending the coal hopper on the family's stoker-fed steam boiler. He perfected an elevator to do it for him. So what happened? He won the Yankee ingenuity scholarship of $500 at Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Fay made his machine from an abandoned ensilage feeder and parts of an old grist mill. For power he harnessed an idle gasoline lawn mower motor.

Two Kent State "Ohio" university men were ejected from their rooming house by an irate housemother one night recently. Unable to contact the dean of men or the dean of women, they phoned President K. C. Leebick of the university as a last resort. They spent the night as guests of the president.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirk and daughter D'Arlene, of Plattsburg and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holmes of Kansas City, were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Miss Martha Mae Holmes.

Miss Lois Langland, who graduated in the class of 1941, and who is now teaching English in the Corn-Ing, Iowa high school was a weekend guest at Residence Hall. Miss Langland is also the sponsor of the Red Raider, the high school newspaper.

Myers Brothers From Ringsted, Iowa, Are Prominent in College Athletics

"Are 'Speck' and 'Blackie' brothers?"
"No! They're not!"
"I'll bet they are. It says here in the Bearcat magazine that they are both from the same town."

The foregoing conversation was overheard at a recent football game. These two outstanding Bearcats, Frank (Speck) and Errol (Blackie) Myers, are brothers, both juniors, and both physical education majors.

The Myers brothers came to Maryville from Ringsted, Iowa. Neither had had any previous football experience, for the high school which they attended did not have a football team. Errol, who is the older, attended Iowa State one term but did not go out for football.

Last year, both Frank and Errol received letters in football. This season Frank is playing end position in the starting Bearcat line-up.

Women's Athletic Club Gives Chili Supper

Misses Frances Aldrich, Maxine Williams, and Miriam Waggoner were the chaperones. Others present were: Shirley Anderson, Mary Bruce, Vida Bernau, Betty Duncan, Coleen Hulatt, Maxine Hoerman, Martha Milner, Charlotte Meyer, June Kunkel and Betty Smalley.

Iowa College Stresses Importance of English

AMES, IOWA.—(ACP)—Dr. Charles E. Friley, president of Iowa State college, has announced a plan under which seniors must show acceptable ability in English before they can be graduated. The plan requires that the student must do more than merely submit grades obtained in English courses as evidence that his written and spoken use of the language measures up to a fair standard of clearness and accuracy.

He must take an examination in English during the first quarter of his senior year. Students who fail the examination will be given opportunity for remedial work in a writing clinic or in courses in English, and may take a later examination.

Dr. Guy S. Green, head of English and speech here, asserts that employers more and more are emphasizing the importance of good English.

Geologist Discovers Vermont Is Younger

BURLINGTON, VT.—(ACP)—The Vermont area is 100,000,000 years younger than scientists have supposed, according to Prof. Charles G. Doll of the geology department, University of Vermont.

During a mapping expedition, Professor Doll discovered several mineralized fossils of sea-lilies and snails in a stratum of rock where they had no geological right to be, on the basis of findings of past scientists, because those varieties were not in existence at the time the rocks were supposed to have been laid down. Perfection of the fossil calyx and stem of the sea lilies, and the type of coiling of the snails, left no doubt that they were the variety in existence during the Devonian age, 340,000,000 years ago.

This fossil proof takes the rock structure through eastern Vermont from Massachusetts to Canada, out of the Ordovician, and out of it in the Devonian age, 100,000,000 years later.

Cubs and Westboro Hold Second Place

Horace Mann Team Takes 18-8 Victory From Its Opponent.

As the result of their 18 to 8 victory over Westboro last Friday afternoon, the Horace Mann Cubs were able to move into a deadlock with that team for the second position in the No. 275 league.

The game belonged to the Cubs all the way. They scored in the first, third, and fourth quarters, and held the Westboro men scoreless until mid-way in the final period.

Two of the Horace Mann scores were made by fullback Surplus, as the result of short gains culminating from sustained down field marches. The third and final Cub score was made by halfback Jack Dieterich after he had snared a Surplus-flung pass.

The first period score for the Cubs came when Surplus drove the final three yards into pay dirt after a 33-yard down-field drive.

The second quarter was uneventful as far as scoring was concerned, although Jack Dieterich did carry the pig skin across the goal line. The play was called back when it was judged a forward instead of a lateral pass.

After Bob Burks had recovered a fumble on the Westboro 36 yard line in the third period, the Cubs again drove goalward. A pass and two line plays failed to gain materially. Then Sherlock snagged a pass, good for 27 yards to the Westboro 5 yard line. In the final play of the series, Surplus took the ball on what started to be a left-end sweep. However, after he was nearly tackled on that side of the line, he reversed his field to score on the right side.

The final Cub score came in the fourth period on the old sleeper play, with Jack Dieterich hiding on the sidelines. He took a 15-yard pass from Surplus and, with a clear field before him, dashed the remaining forty yards to the goal.

After the Maryville kickoff had been returned to the Westboro 24 and Wilkinson had picked up six yards on a pass from Nuckols, a Westboro pass was intercepted by Surplus on the Maryville 30. On the next play Nuckols dashed in to intercept a Dieterich-thrown lateral and scamper the remaining distance to the goal line through an astonished Cub backfield.

The closing minutes of play found the Cubs again threatening. The Westboro defense stiffened, however, on the one-yard-line to stave off the threat.

Brown Offers Many Recreation Facilities

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—(ACP)—A year's experiment with a student recreation program that encourages interest in sports and other activities which can be enjoyed throughout life has proved so successful that Brown university officials are continuing the program during 1941-42.

The Brown plan is in effect the elective system applied in the broadest sense to all kinds of recreational interests which give students fresh air, exercise and healthful enjoyment. It allows wide freedom in permitting each student to choose the kind of recreation he most wants.

From the beginning to the end of the college year there are 38 different activities in which freshmen, the only class required to participate, can meet their recreation requirement. These include, in addition to regular intramural and intercollegiate teams, such recreation as golf, sailing, rifle-practice, skiing, hiking and life-saving. Credit is also given for Naval ROTC drill.

Prof. Leslie E. Swain of the Department of Physical education, who is in charge of the program, comments: "There is no reason why a student cannot take his exercise when it is convenient, and enter into the kind of sports he likes the most. We are more interested in developing a healthy interest in recreation than in insisting upon proficiency in any one sport."

Mrs. Charles E. Villhauer, who taught in the College two summers ago and who has taught in the Syracuse High School for the last six years, has accepted a commercial teaching position in the Packard School of New York City. While there Mrs. Villhauer will complete the requirements for the Ph. D. Degree in New York University.

Marjorie Busch and Ruth Gebbie spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Busch near Mound City.

Activity Program Is Interview Topic

Principal at Horace Mann Expresses Himself on Its Importance.

In an interview, Mr. H. R. Dieterich, principal of Horace Mann High School, stated that while extra-curricular activities are not of first importance, they play a significant part in the school program. They are a necessary supplement in the work of the school if there is to be an all-round development of students.

College students who are working in the Horace Mann Laboratory High School, he says, have an opportunity to observe a well-rounded secondary school program. Their experience as classroom teachers may be supplemented by their work with the students in extra-curricular activities. The program in the Horace Mann school includes a newspaper, sponsored by the English department; a yearbook, Memories, sponsored by the Senior class; various department clubs; a student council; an all-girls' organization; and an athletic program, including both intra-mural and inter-scholastic athletics. Softball, football, basketball, track, tennis, and golf are included in the athletic program. This year, for the first time, there will be inter-scholastic contest in ping-pong.

Mr. Dieterich has been actively interested in extra-curricular work. He was general manager of the spring contests which formerly consisted of contests in curricular subjects as well as the present ones of speech, music, and athletics. He is a member of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association and has served on the board of control the past ten years. He was recently elected for an additional term of three years. He has also been a member of the National Inter-scholastic Football Rules committee during the past six years.
